Camden, N.J., July 15, 2024

In a commitment to furthering its partnership with Cooper University Health Care and bolstering essential services for the Camden community, Subaru of America, Inc., has announced its continued support of $30,000 for durable medical equipment and transportation services to continue to fuel Cooper's mission. This donation, part of the Subaru Loves to Care® initiative, aims to provide access to vital medical equipment to Camden City residents.

The funds are designated for durable medical equipment, including blood pressure monitors, glucometers, scales, wheelchairs, walkers, and canes to help patients manage their chronic health conditions at home and prevent the need for emergency department visits or hospitalizations. The funds will also provide hundreds of Camden residents with roundtrip transportation to assure patients who do not have medical transport get to their appointments safely on time to Cooper facilities.

"We are most grateful to our Camden neighbor, Subaru, for their support of Cooper over the years. We look forward to our continued partnership as we work together to be a positive force in Camden's growth and prosperity," said Anthony J. Mazzarelli, MD, JD, MBE, co-CEO of Cooper.

"This generous contribution by Subaru to Cooper's community programs demonstrates our shared commitment to addressing health care disparities and making a tangible transformation in the lives and health of patients living in Camden," said Kevin M. O'Dowd, JD, co-CEO of Cooper.

"Being able to assist in Cooper's dedicated efforts to helping our Camden community get and stay healthy is exactly what Subaru Loves to Care is all about," said Erica McLeod, corporate social responsibility manager, Subaru of America, Inc. "Too many neighbors with chronic health conditions can experience unexpected out-of-pocket costs associated with medical treatments, and this funding should alleviate some of the burdens on our community members most in need."

The Subaru Loves to Care initiative is the health-focused philanthropic pillar of the Subaru Love Promise. Cooper has been the recipient of numerous charitable donations from Subaru over the years. The automaker has previously donated four vehicles to the Cooper EMS program, provided funding to the Children's Regional Hospital at Cooper and contributed to The Cooper Foundation's Pink Roses Teal Magnolias event for women's cancer.

"Without corporate partners such as Subaru in our community, we could not do what we do at Cooper," said Lisa Morina, senior vice president and chief philanthropy officer at The Cooper Foundation. "We are most grateful for the ongoing collaboration between our two organizations to help make a meaningful impact in the lives of our Cooper patients and the communities we serve."

The donations to Cooper are part of Subaru Loves to Care, the health-focused philanthropic pillar of the automaker's Love Promise vision to show love and respect to all people at every interaction with Subaru. To learn more about Subaru Loves to Care, please visit subaru.com/care.
